LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL

VINCENNES, INDIANA

WE SAY, "GOODBYE" OLD BUILDING

The old building shown above, a landmark on the corner of Fifth and Buntin Streets for over a half-centry, is to be torn down this spring to make room for a new and more spacious building.

It is with sadness that we say, "Farewell," to this old yellow brick structure, for it will always remain in the memory of over 10,000 graduates as their high school.

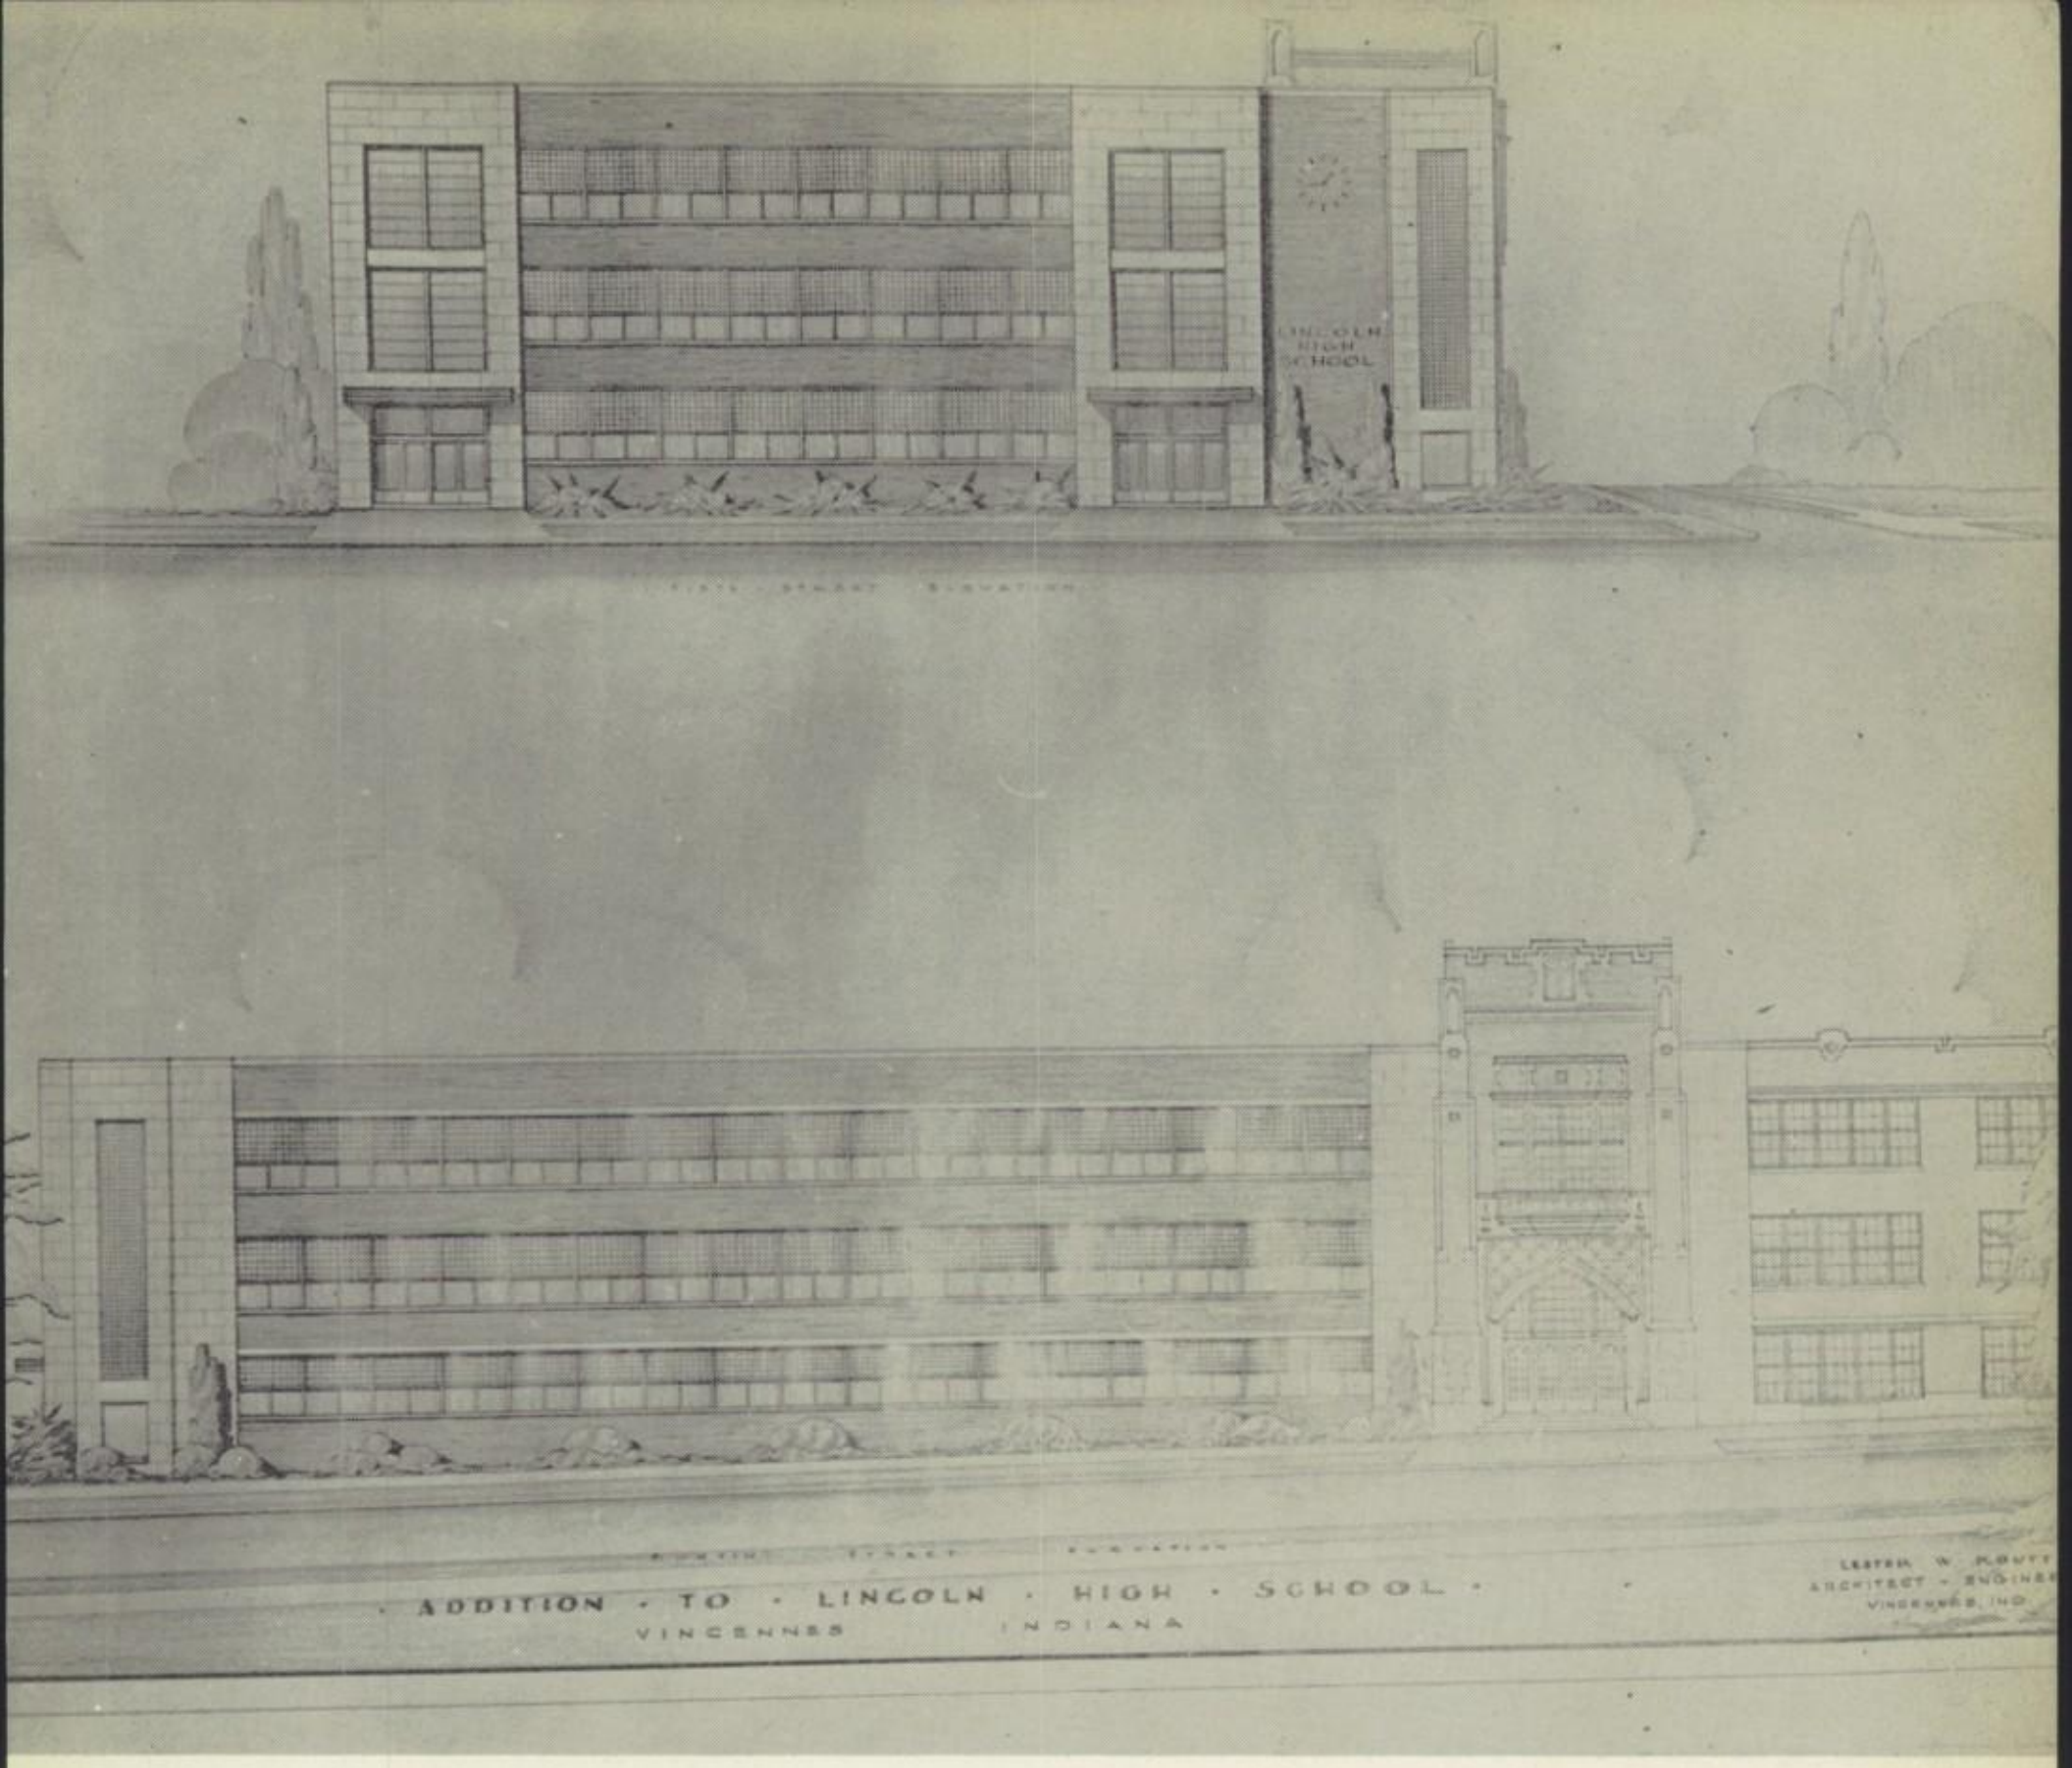
This old building has served well, for its graduates have done well for themselves and their fellow men in the world.

Dreams of becoming senators, doctors, lawyers, teachers, ministers, and a thousand others, some fulfilled, others thwarted, have had their inceptions in these hallowed walls.

Lincoln High School, whether housed in an old building or a new structure, has always and will always attempt to prepare its graduates for a happy and useful life.

In this preparation for life, Lincoln High School attempts to train the entire individual—the mind, the hand, and the body. The social aspect of training too has never been slighted.

The mind is trained in academic classwork, the hand in vocational work, the body in health, gym and athletics, while the social training takes place in all these activities as well as in the many clubs, parties, dances and functions sponsored by the school.



WE SAY, "HELLO" NEW BUILDING

Although the old building has served the community well, we are sure the new building, shown above, will serve better; for it will be equipped with all the modern facilities for training the individual for life in the mid-twentieth century—a life filled with more complexities than were ever dreamed of in the gay nineties when the old building was planned and built.

Aside from modern classrooms, the new building will contain conference rooms, modern home economics facilities, cafeteria, practice rooms for music, photographic darkroom, and many other features not enjoyed in the old building.

The above building is the first unit in a series of three to be built in the future. The above is to be built during the summer of 1955 and will be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1956.

The new building will be the result of much planning on the part of the community, faculty, students, and administrators.

The Lester W. Routt, architectural concern of Vincennes has drawn all the architectural details. Professor Seagers of Indiana University has acted as building consultant throughout the entire planning stage.

So the new building will not be the product of one mind, but rather the product of many.

LINCOLN HIGH TRAINS FOR LIVING

That each student may realize his greatest potential for good in our society is the principle upon which our great free secondary school system is founded. In fulfilling this principle the entire person must be considered.

The graduate of Lincoln High School must be prepared to earn a living or continue higher academic training, to lend his support to worthy causes, to participate in politics, and, in short, to be a well rounded citizen in our Democratic society.

Our dial

Lincoln High adheres to this worthy principle. Academic training, vocational training and social training are all offered at Lincoln.

The spiritual training, although left primarily to the fine homes and churches of our community, is encouraged at all times by example and deed of the faculty.

Students learn the rudiments of mathematics in John L. Adams' class

The training of hands in woodworking takes place in John Briscoe's shop class

Good sportsmanship, character, and strong bodies are the results of our sports

We live together and have fun at one of our school sponsored dances

THROUGH SOCIAL SCIENCE

Although the above photo may appear humorous at first glance, it is symbolical of the major source from which much of our knowledge of man and his environment is imparted to us.

From many books students of Lincoln High, guided by their faculty, glean information which will aid them in attaining a more useful and meaningful life.

Through Social Sciences students learn about man, his environment, and his accomplishments in his struggle throughout the ages.

THE HAND

THROUGH VOCATIONAL SUBJECTS

Vocational training as the name implies prepares the student with the basic tools of earning a livelihood. Metal working, mechanical d·awing, woodworking, sewing, typing, and bookkeeping are studies essential to a well-rounded curriculum.

Lincoln High School, adhering to the principle of training the entire individual, has attained a happy balance between the academic and the vocational.

Art, in which the student learns to appreciate form and texture as well as a greater appreciation of the world of art, is taught at Lincoln High School. The student also enjoys the opportunity of creating original pieces using most of the modern media of artistic creation.

In typing, bookkeeping and accounting the student masters fundamental skills and knowledge which will prepare him for a job in the future.

In Home Economics, the girls of Lincoln High School learn sewing and dress design, which will add greatly to their enjoyment by allowing them to create their own original fashions as well as saving them money as future homemakers.

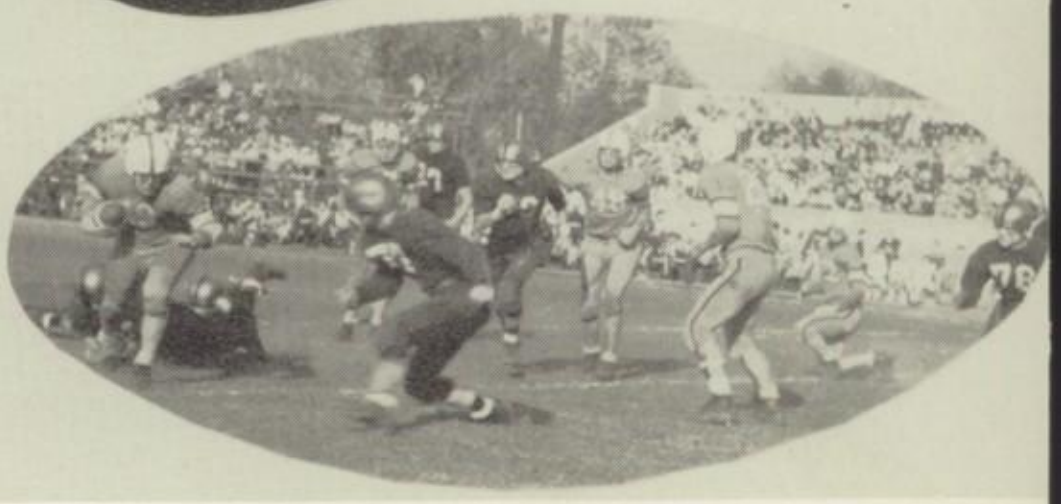
TRAINS THE BODY



THROUGH
HEALTH, GYM, ATHLETICS

The training of the body is not neglected at Lincoln High School. Each student participates in gym classes where intramural activities are stressed.

In athletics Lincoln High's Basketball, Football, Track, Cross-Country and Baseball teams are outstanding in Southern Indiana.

Proper care of the body is also stressed in the health classes.

WORTHY USE OF LEISURE TIME THROUGH MUSIC AND READING

Although the library is often thought of as a place where must references are found, such is not the case at Lincoln High. Here over 10,000 volumes are stored and catalogued. The greater percent are volumes intended for enjoyment in reading. Through perusing the many books and magazines, the student attains a better understanding as to how to use his leisure.

The joy of playing a musical instrument in harmony with others is revealed to students in the Lincoln High School Band. To create professional musicians is not the primary aim of Lincoln High, but rather to instill in the student an appreciation of music and the ability to work together with others.

A portion of the huge crowd that filled the coliseum for last spring's Signature dance. Although the yearbooks did not arrive as scheduled, everybody enjoyed himself.

"SIG" DANCE

The Signature dance is sponsored by the Lincoln Log. The purpose is to give an all-school dance when the yearbooks are distributed.

Fortunately the dance is scheduled soon after the Junior-Senior Prom. This allows the entire student body to enjoy the gorgeous decorations prepared at great expense and work by the Lincoln High School Juniors.

Last spring over 800 students attended the Signature dance and danced to the music of Jackie Vaught's orchestra.

The local musician's union furnished the orchestra free. The Lincoln Log staff is grateful to the local union for its splendid cooperation in making this social event successful.

CHORUS

Many delightful programs have been presented by the Lincoln High School Chorus, not only for convocations at school, but also for various civic organizations and churches.

The chorus, having won three firsts in the Solo and Ensemble Contest at Evansville, went on to Indianapolis for the state contest where they made a wonderful showing of their abilities.

Due credit should be given to Mr. Hal Meurer and Mr. Delbert Kieffner who have given of their time and talents to make the chorus the success that it is.

MUSIC CALENDAR 1954

The combined chorus of Lincoln High School presented one of the most colorful musicaf shows seen during the school year.

All twelve months of the year were cleverly depicted by various musical and dance numbers.

LINCOLN PLAY SHOP

One of the busiest organizations in Lincoln High is the Lincoln Playshop, sponsored by Miss Miller and Mr. Charles Bridges.

Even though it may not sound as if there is too much work involved in presenting two three act plays and one one act play a year, there is more to presenting a play than the average student of Lincoln High realizes. Many months of hardwork, practice, late hours, and fun go into these productions.

As has been their custom in the past, a three act play is presented in the fall and in the spring, and a one act play which is given for convocation in early February.

The fall three act play, "Arsenic and Old Lace" proved to be one of the best comedies ever presented by Lincoln Playshop. It would be impossible for anyone to think that Abbie and Martha Brewster, portrayed by Barbara Gallager and Rita Argenta, were capable of murdering nine men, for they seemed such like such sweet old ladies who wouldn't harm a hair on your head. Abbie and Martha, aided by Teddy Roosevelt, David Cannon, kept the whole household in a state of confusion while Mortimer, John Staley, endeavored to retain his senses.

The next play that was presented for both the Teachers Federation dinner on February 17, and the Convocation program on the 18th was the one-act play, "Three On a Bench." This play, which centers on a bench in the park, portrays the typical lovers' quarrels and their difficulties which they bring to the young couple, Betty and Harry. A very sentimental widow, Mrs. Moore, has as her main goal in life the uniting of young couples. Mr. Brody, the policeman of the neighborhood, is in love with Mrs. Moore, although she is unaware of this fact.

JUNIOR PROM

The Junior-Senior Prom has become a tradition of long standing in Lincoln High School. Each class vies with the previous class in attempting to make the coliseum more beautiful than the preceding class.

Juniors begin preparing and planning for the Prom months in advance. Money is raised for this gala occasion by selling candy, ice cream and cold drinks at the basketball games throughout the season.

And Finally Our Big Night — Our Junior Prom

The Juniors Working Hard for Their Prom

Their reward for the many months spent working at the concession stands, making and selling crepe paper shakers, and sponsoring sock hops was their one glorious evening, Prom night.

All of their endeavors had been co-ordinated to transform the coliseum into a heavenly fairyland.

Fred Dale and his fourteen piece orchestra furnished the music. After the formalities of welcoming the Seniors, the prom began with the Grand March led by Gary Snyder and Joan Hocker. Dancing continued from 7:30 until 11:30.

Funds to support the band are raised by the sale of band booster tickets, the sponsoring of a sock hop, and from donations from supporters.

The Band-Parents Club made up of the parents of band members acts in an advisory capacity to the band. This club also directs the various fund raising projects.

PAT ALSOP

RITA WILSON

Pat Alsop, a vivacious 5'6" blonde with sparkling green eyes and a cheerful smile, known to all of Lincoln High School for her friendliness and charm, will reign as Queen of the Signature Dance. Pat is quite an ambitious girl. Her goal is to become an attorney at law. She plans to attend Gulf Park College in Mississippi for two years and then complete her education at Indiana University. Pat has fun too; her hobbies are dancing, collecting miniature vases from foreign countries, and baton twirling. Her hobby of baton twirling turned out to be more than just a hobby; she has been a majorette in the High School Band for quite some time now. We wish her success in the years to come.

The lovely Court of Attendants consisting of Donna George, Roberta Reynolds, Sandra Kunkel, and Rita Wilson also have high hopes and ambitions.

Donna, who is 5'4", weighs 115, and has brown hair and blue eyes, hopes to become a secretary. In her free time she likes to dance, play tennis, and go horseback riding.

Roberta, who is 5'5", weighs 122, has brown hair and eyes, is planning to be a nurse.

Sandra, who is 5'5", weighs 112, has dark brown hair and eyes, desires to become an airline hostess.

Rita, who is 5'6", weighs 119, has black hair and brown eyes, wants to be a housewife, which is really quite a job.

OUR '54 GRIDIRON SQUAD

The Alices started off the season with wins over some highly touted football teams. In the course of the season they showed the determination and "never give up spirit' which has always dominated Alice play.

Though their record of three wins, five losses and two ties wasn't particularly impressive in the winning and losing column, not a single game was settled until the final gun was fired.

The high point of the Alice season was holding the Princeton Tigers to a 0-0 tie in the homecoming game. This tie cost the "Tigers" the S. I. A. C. Conference Championship.

We are looking ahead to next season when the Alices will again prove themselves as a football power.

This year the Alices' Harriers won the S.I.A.C. cross country meet for the sixth straight year. They won by a wide margin over a seven team field at the Cascades Golf Course at Bloomington.

The Harriers won the sectional meet, giving them the opportunity of participating in the state meet run at the Southcourse Golf Course in Indianapolis.

The Alices, running in almost freezing weather, placed fifth among the twenty teams participating.

Although beaten by Shortridge, Anderson, Hobart and Marion (tied), in that order, Vincennes placed Wayne Kirk first after the individuals had been scored.

Individuals placed as follows: Kirk 1, Cannon 13, Snyder 43, Fees 50, Roach 55, Gordon 60, and Claycomb 63.

COACH McCORMACK

The 1954 track season was an outstanding one for the Alice cindermen. This year's runners were of rare ability, and under the leadership of Coach "Mac" McCormick (rated tops in the Hoosier high school track world), developed into southern Indiana's finest runners. The Alices' high spots include victories in three of four dual meets, losing only to Wiley's perennial speedsters. Later this loss was avenged with a victory over the Terre Haute club and fifteen other teams in our own Old Post Relays. The Alices also won the Paris Relays over thirty other teams, and finished second in a field of eighteen schools at the Indian Relays. Another outstanding performance was a second place at the sectional with twenty-seven schools competing.

"Alice Men of Distinction"

Student Managers Bob Clammons, Chuck "Shorty" Walton, and Bruce Martin.

These are the boys who keep the team running smoothly. They are held responsible for all equipment that is needed in practice as well as the game. Another important job these boys carry out is the compiling of all records on every game.

"SCENES OF MY CHILDHOOD"

"How dear to my heart are the
scenes of my childhood,

When fond recollections present them to view!

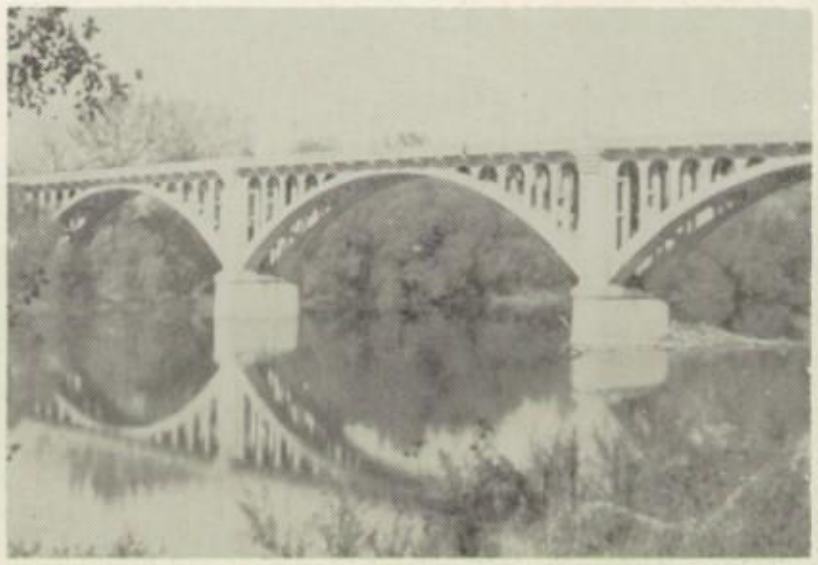
Unfortunately it is impossible to capture on film all the feeling and emotion surrounding the community in which we grow up; however, the pictures shown below represent scenes and places which we believe are typical and representative of our historical city.

The bright days of summer along the Wabash, the youthful joy at the ball games at the coliseum, the happy days spent at school will surely bring back a thousand memories of our youth spent in Vincennes.

The old Lincoln High School building. Torn down in the summer of 1955.

The Coliseum, built in 1926, where we attended gym classes, but best remembered for many basketball games seen here.

The halls of Lincoln High. We've walked down these halls many times.



The Wabash which flows by our town. Sometimes she is peaceful, sometimes she is angry, but always beautiful.

The first capitol of Indiana Territory

The home of William H. Harrison, Grouseland, still stands gracefully along the Wabash.

GRADUATION - COMMENCEMENT

At graduation we come to the end of a chapter begun twelve years ago. Although eagerly anticipated throughout our Senior year, we find that the realization that we are now graduating brings about a kind of sadness. To think that no longer are we students with teachers to guide us, but are now this very night leaving our happy cloistered life to enter the world of men brings to us a challenge which we cannot escape.

Mr. Minderman at work in the maintenance shop. Mr. Minderman keeps the equipment and building in repair.

Mr. McMillan is a familiar figure as he goes about his work on the second floor.

BUILDING ENGINEERS

Mrs. Kirk is known by all the students for her pleasant smile and helpful attitude. She works on the third floor.

Mr. Reel is shown before the boilers that he keeps under steam throughout the winter months. Mr. Reel also works on the first floor.

ADMINISTRATION

The people shown on this page are responsible for the operation of our school. The various activities shown on the preceding pages of this book could have never been had it not been for the leadership and planning of our able administrators.

Class schedules, program planning, and individual counselling are only a few of the many tasks performed by our able administrative staff. .

Mr. Decker, Dean of Boys, also teaches several classes as well as acts as Junior counsellor. Miss Eppert likewise acts as Senior counsellor along with her classes in Home Economics and Health.

MR. ROY R. SNYDER
Principal
(Deceased) April 5, 1955

MR. WILLIAM DECKER
Dean of Boys

MISS NELLE EPPERT
Dean of Girls

MRS. MARTHA KLEPFER
Secretary

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS — Left to Right: Mr. Harold Klemeyer, Secretary; Mr. Glen Allen, Treasurer; Mr. Ralph Banks, Superintendent, and Mr. Maurice Boekmann, President.

MR. RALPH BANKS
Superintendent

Without the assistance and leadership of the men shown on these pages the many activities shown in this book could have never been possible.

The School Board, working with Mr. Banks are responsible for the splendid leadership we enjoy in our school system.

We, the student body and faculty, wish to take this opportunity to say,

"Thank you."
